

CONTENTS

| | |
|---|-----|
| Foreword..... | 7 |
| An historical framework | 11 |
| Archaeological themes | 33 |
| The natural environment | 33 |
| Fortifications | 42 |
| The road system | 46 |
| Water supply | 48 |
| Housing | 50 |
| Religion | 59 |
| Death and burial | 65 |
| Agriculture | 69 |
| Ceramics and society | 73 |
| Numismatics | 89 |
| Items of daily life | 91 |
| An itinerary (Figure 40) | 96 |
| The extramural baths and the 'Baths Basilica' (no. 1) | 100 |
| The 'Frontinus Street' (no. 2) | 101 |
| Small church (no. 3) | 103 |
| Late Roman/early Byzantine peristyle house (no. 4) | 105 |
| Byzantine houses along the 'Frontinus Street' (no. 4) | 105 |
| Early Byzantine kiln (no. 5) | 109 |
| A Byzantine courtyard house (no. 5) | 111 |
| The Ottoman farm (no. 6) | 115 |
| The commercial agora (no. 7) | 117 |
| Byzantine church and cemetery (no. 8) | 118 |
| Turkish houses (no. 9) | 125 |
| Middle Byzantine buildings (no. 10) | 127 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| Protobyzantine fortifications (no. 10) | 129 |
| Byzantine houses (tenth century circa) (no. 11) | 131 |
| Byzantine olive press (no. 12) | 134 |
| Early Seldjuk houses (no. 12) | 136 |
| The cathedral (no. 13) | 138 |
| Small Church (no. 14) | 144 |
| Byzantine baths (no. 15) | 145 |
| The Pier Church (no. 16) | 145 |
| 'Three-aisled' church (no. 17) | 148 |
| House of the Ionic Capitals and House of the Doric Courtyard (no. 18) | 148 |
| Roman theatre (no. 19) | 151 |
| Church above the theatre (no. 20) | 152 |
| The Martyrion of St. Philip (no. 21) | 154 |
| The Apollo Sanctuary (no. 22) | 158 |
| The Central Baths (no. 23) | 159 |
| The Museum (no. 23) | 161 |
| The fort (no. 24) | 164 |
| The territory around Hierapolis | 169 |
| Pamukkale | 169 |
| Laodicea | 169 |
| Ak Han | 171 |
| Beyinli | 173 |
| Denizli - Ladik - Tunghuzlu | 175 |
| Hisarköy - Ladik (?) | 178 |
| Hisarköy - Attouda | 179 |
| Honaz | 181 |
| Serinhisar | 182 |
| Glossary..... | 183 |
| Select bibliography | 187 |

This is one of the first guidebooks for the general public to deal with the Byzantine and Turkish archaeology of an ancient town. Following 50 years of excavation by the Italian Archaeological Mission in close collaboration with the Turkish authorities, it is now possible to describe and illustrate the post-classical remains of Hierapolis of Phrygia. The book first explores a number of themes, from the changing environment to religion and agriculture, as well as discussing objects that illustrate day-to-day life in the medieval town. An itinerary then guides the visitor to the site with detailed information on things to be seen, from the monumental remains of the cathedral, the shrine of St. Philip and the castle, to more humble tenth century Byzantine houses and the remains of early Turkish farms on the hills above the town. The book concludes with a glossary and a select bibliography.